BIPOC Artist Instagram Project

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

During this time of crisis and increased precarity resultant of COVID-19, EAHR seeks to connect with BIPOC artists, to share your work, and provide a platform for your artistic practices to reach new audiences. We are particularly interested in BIPOC artistic responses to the circumstances presented by the COVID-19 pandemic, including the urgent call to address ongoing systemic racism and oppression, (pre-)existing conditions, climate change, and social justice activism during this unprecedented time.

EAHR (Ethnocultural Art Histories Research Group) at Concordia University invites artists who identify as BIPOC to submit work for the opportunity to be featured on the EAHR Instagram * IG: @eahrconcordia *

Accepting submissions *now* and throughout the summer.
Submit your work to ethnoculturalarts@gmail.com today!

Please send us the following:

1. Maximum 5 artworks in any medium that could be shared on Instagram.

Required specifications:

- maximum file size of 50 MB per image
- JPEG or PNG format
- Image must be approximately 1080px by 1350px (Portrait), or/and 1080px by 608px (Landscape).

2. Artist Biography (300 words maximum)

3. Description of Artwork(s) submitted (300 words maximum)

Artists will hear from us within two weeks of receipt of work. Selected submissions will be posted every two weeks. While we have no funding to offer artist honoraria for the Instagram project, EAHR is currently seeking funding to pay artists for a selection of the projects from the Instagram exhibition to be archived at the end of summer on ethnoculturalarts.com (funding pending, artists whose projects are selected for a second exhibition in the archiving process will be contacted in September).
